

Twine - Choose your character

Creative Project Pitch

1. A Twine game in a group of 2-3
2. Jason Zhen
3. Twine
4. What kind of story do you want to tell? What ideas for plot, genre, characters, etc. do you have at the moment?
 - We want to write a story about social media and its influence on teenagers in our modern day. We have two paths of allowing the reader to select either the female or male route. We want it to show how different social media platforms affect the user and their usage. We also want to show emphasis on how all social media platforms are interconnected. The ending and moral of this story should be to be more mindful of how one interacts with social media, and to be careful of how and how much they are using it.
5. I understand my group needs to complete the Group Contract

Group Contract

Jason will be working on inputting the story and ideas into Twine, as he will learn the program and be well-versed in it.

Aiju will focus on creating the story, plot, and an outline of how each path will go. She will be responsible for uploading all the files and documents to LEARN.

Collaboratively, they will work on the report, and any other formal administrative work they have to do along with the actual Twine game. We are aiming to finish the game by March 17th, and finish our personal reflections by the 19th.

Typical day of the modern day teenager

- INSERT CONTENT WARNING
- Have them interact with their smartphone
 - Eg. Post a controversial Tweet, repost an Instagram IGTV, or tag someone in a meme on Facebook
 - Have the ending be a wake-up call
 - Moral of story is: be safe on the internet, be mindful of others, everything is saved

xxJohnxx has added you as a friend!
Good job! Don't add random strangers on the internet.

Good job! You did not add a random stranger on the internet. Especially over Snapchat, this could go wrong in many ways. Do not add random people to your Snapchat, and make sure your privacy settings are secure so that the people who view your Public Snapchats are not random people that could potentially be dangerous.

xxJohnxx: "hi are you home"

xxJohnxx

heyyyy i got ur snapchat from jason the other day cuz you left the party before i could ask for ur number :(

would u like to hangout sometime ???

hello?

NEW BUBBLE

> You finally respond to his message. What do you say?

1. heyyyy sorry i was doing sumthin lol um sure??? but i dont even know u lol
 - a. xxJohnxx is typing...
 - haha its ok.. u can get to know me ;)
 - i can pick u up tonight u live near me
2. sure!!!
 - a. xxJohnxx is typing...
 - i. haha ok i can pick u up tonight u live pretty close ;)

ENDING FOR 1&2

- You begin to wonder if you ever mentioned where you live. You are about to ask him how he knows that information before you begin to realize something

Snapchat Maps. You never turned it off.

You can see that xxJohnxx's icon is terrifyingly close to yours and that he was at your location 2 minutes ago.

3. um sorry i dont even know u and i dont know why u have my snapchat
 - a. xxJohnxx is typing...
 - wow bitch... i got ur snapchat because i thought you were hot
 - but clearly ur just another stuck up princess
 - no wonder ur single lol
 - u better watch ur back i know where u live
 - DIFF ENDING
 - You are about to call him out on his bluff when you stop to think, "Does he really know where I live?" You grow anxious, sitting there trying to recall if you have ever met this person before. Then you check your Location settings, trying to check if this would be any help to ease your anxiety.

That's when you realize.

Snapchat Maps. You never turned it off.

You can see that xxJohnxx's icon is terrifyingly close to yours and that he was at your location 2 minutes ago.

THE NUDE PIC ROUTE

You open the Snapchat from xxJohnxx and to your horror, you see something that you now cannot erase from your eyes, your brain, or your existence.

Do not open random Snapchats from people. You never know if you will receive an unwarranted provocative picture.

--61alex-- "You think you're so funny posting shit like that?"

alexxxxxx

LOL who the fuck do you think you are?

ur so ugly

stop posting shit like this

nobody wants to see it

> Decline the message. Good job, you've ignored this random person's comment. No other person, especially a stranger on the internet, should have the power to make you feel any less about yourself. As long as you are not posting things that will harm someone or hurt someone else intentionally, go ahead! Freedom of speech exists for a reason.

> Accept the message. What do you respond with?

- ??? what

- _alexxxxxx_

- omg LOL u actually responded what a fckin loser

- hope u go kys

- ur so ugly no wonder u only have 17 likes

- lolol and only 873 followers?

- sending means messages like this to ppl does not work. u need to get a life.

- _alexxxxxx_

- omg LOL u actually responded what a fckin loser

- hope u go kys

- ur so ugly no wonder u only have 17 likes

- lolol and only 873 followers?

--61alex-- wants to send you a message.

Jason Z. mentioned you in @realDonaldTrump's tweet

"My friend (always there when I've needed him!), Senator @RandPaul, was just tested "positive" from the Chinese Virus. That is not good! He is strong and will get better. Just spoke to him and he was in good spirits."

>You retweet it because, clearly, you agree with him.

- Nobody really responds to your tweet or notices it because you have a small following, but you do get a few messages from your friends and family questioning your life decisions.

>You immediately message your friend to tell him that you do not want to be sent tweets like this anymore.

- Good job, you did not engage with the xenophobia and racism that is evident in this tweet.